

Heliodon

EQ219

Function

To make the understanding of the apparent motions of the Sun easier, the way it is seen from the Earth; to estimate the length of the solar day and sunset and sunrise times any day of the year, anywhere on the planet, etc. It is intended to show the most adequate position to start construction works; it enables farmers to choose the most appropriate time for planting and harvesting in a determined region.

Knowledge areas

Math & Science Fundamentals

Level

Graduation - Technical education - High school

